Create a painting where it is in a very dark room with a window on the wall that is open but does not let in a lot of light. There is a bright light that shines through the painting from the right of it, and the light is made to bring the viewers' eyes to it. There is a table that has 4 people at it. The clothing that the people were inspired by the 1600s. The bright light goes to the table. Under the light, there are two other people standing up.